I LOVE YOU ENOUGH

Some day when my children are old enough to understand the logic that motivates a mother, I will tell them:
I loved you enough to ask you about where you were going,
with whom, and what time you would get home.
I loved you enough to insist that you buy a bike that we could afford to give you with your own money.
I loved you enough to be silent and let discover that your hand-picked friend was a creep.
I loved you enough to make you return a Milky Way with a bite out of it to a drugstore and confess: "I stole this."
I loved you enough to stand over you for two hours while you clean your room, a job that would have taken me fifteen minutes.
I loved you enough to let you see anger, disappointment, disgust, and tears in my eyes.
I loved you enough to admit I was wrong and ask for your forgiveness.
I loved you enough to let you stumble, fall, and hurt.
I loved you enough to let you assume the responsibility for your actions at 6, 10, or 18. But, most of all, I loved you enough to say NO when you hated me for it.
That was the hardest part of all.
